

FIRST BALLOT.

Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, on the Situation.

Thinks McKinley Will Have a Walk-Over at St. Louis.

The Senator is Tired of the Silver Question—He is Still a Candidate for President—Does Not Know Who Will Be Nominated for Vice President.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Senator Quay arrived here Tuesday from Washington on his way to his home in Beaver, whence he will go to the republican national convention at St. Louis. A reporter asked him whether he thought there would be any trouble over the silver question at St. Louis. The senator replied: "See here, I have heard so much about that for the past three weeks I am tired of it."

"Will there be a nomination for president on the first ballot?" was asked.

"Yes."

"Will it be McKinley?"

"I think so."

"Will you withdraw as a candidate for the presidential nomination?"

The senator laughed and said: "I had said that I would shoot the first man who asked me that question. But I am harmless. I am without arms. I am still a candidate."

"Who will be nominated for vice president?"

"I don't know."

"Do you think it will be Gov. Hastings?"

"Indeed I can not tell."

Senator Quay further stated that he had not heard of any effort to head off McKinley. He left for Beaver Tuesday night.

Herman Keck Sentenced.

THE M'KINLEYITES

Builly Engaged in Distributing Lithographs and Buttons in St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 9.—In anticipation of the arrival Tuesday of the anti-McKinley leaders, the lieutenants of the Ohio candidate were busily engaged Monday night in distributing throughout the down town district lithographs, banners and buttons bearing a splendid portrait of McKinley. Up to the present McKinley has had things pretty much his own way in St. Louis, but the arrival of Messrs. Manley, of Maine; Clarkson, of Iowa; Teller, of Colorado; Fifer, of Illinois, and numerous other prominent republican leaders are expected to make a division in the almost universal display of McKinley pictures. The finishing touches of the auditorium were being made Tuesday and the decorations will have concluded his work Tuesday night. The portraits of Gen. Grant and Adm. Farragut were put up Monday. The great naval commander will look down on the members of the convention from the gallery railing at the east end of the hall. Directly opposite is a portrait of Gen. Phil Sheridan, representing the army. The still greater leaders, Lincoln and Grant, are on the two sides, the first almost directly over the speaker's stand and Grant at the center of the south gallery opposite. Higher than all, just above Lincoln, is Washington. Each is surrounded by American flags.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 9.—Gov. Stone Tuesday notified Mayor Walbridge, of St. Louis, that his request for a special session of the legislature to appropriate money for the reconstruction of the municipal and state institutions damaged by the tornado of May 27, was denied. In his refusal to call a special session of the legislature, Gov. Stone says that the necessity is not so great but that it can wait for the regular session and in the meantime suitable temporary quarters can be provided by the city.

BOMB OUTRAGE.

Martial Law in the City of Barcelona Declared.

There Were Eleven Killed Instead of Six by the Explosion.

Thirty-Two Arrests Made and Excitement Runs High—The Prisoners are Closely Guarded—An Angry Mob Demands Their Summary Punishment.

BARCELONA, June 9.—The excitement caused by the explosion shows no sign of diminution and the people vigorously demand that no effort be spared by the authorities to punish the authors of the outrage and to guard against a repetition of the dastardly act. When it became known that the killed numbered eleven instead of six as was stated in the first report, the indignation of the populace was very violent; in fact so threatening was the outlook that the authorities, as a measure of precaution, proclaimed martial law and the city is now under military government. Two more arrests of suspects were made Monday, making a total of 32 men who have been taken into custody on suspicion of having been concerned in the perpetration of the outrage.

The prisoners are confined in the prefecture. Monday an angry mob gathered around the building and demanded the summary punishment of every one of the prisoners, whether his guilt be proved or not. Occasionally it looked as though the mob would attempt to storm the prefecture in order to wreak vengeance on the suspects. The civil guards on duty at the place were speedily reinforced and were frequently compelled to charge upon the crowd to make them keep their distance. The mob would scatter temporarily, but would soon gather again, threatening to lynch the prisoners.

Barcelona is not alone in the attempt to repress with a stern hand the recrudescence of anarchy. The royal government and the municipal authorities of Madrid are taking measures to prevent the commission of outrages in the capital.

OFF FOR ST. LOUIS.

Newspaper Correspondents at Washington Leave for the Convention.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The Washington correspondents of the principal daily papers throughout the country left Washington for the republican convention Monday afternoon at four o'clock, and are scheduled to arrive at St. Louis Tuesday evening at seven o'clock. They travel luxuriously on a special train of Pullman cars through the courtesy of the Pennsylvania railroad. About one hundred were in the party. Delayed by the continuance of congress, another contingent of the leading correspondents, including the convention staff of the United Press, will leave here Wednesday afternoon via the Chesapeake and Ohio and reach St. Louis on Friday. Both parties will return together after the convention.

GERMAN VISITORS

From All Parts of the United States at Pittsburgh—The Sangerfest.

PITTSBURGH, June 9.—The streets of this city were filled with German visitors Monday from all parts of the country, who were being escorted by the local reception committee to the headquarters of the national sangerfest.

All the singers were gay with badges, and several of the societies added to the jollity by carrying immense white umbrellas, the Columbus marcher being particularly noticeable because of this, and the two Dutch clowns they brought along. By evening every society expected had good sized delegations in the city. The only disappointment was that the Milwaukee musketeers were unable to attend owing to the street car strike.

The Derivishes took the route to Suarda, which was the Khalifa's largest camp, with the exception of Dongola. The cavalry, upon reaching Suarda, found the place deserted. The troops occupied the place and seized enormous quantities of stores of all kinds and a number of camels.

ATTORNEYS STRIKE.

Judge Helm Refused to Allow Walling to Again Go on the Stand Tuesday Morning.

NEWPORT, Ky., June 9.—The strike of the attorneys in the Walling trial has been declared off. The demand for "shorter hours at the same wages" was of no avail, and the lawyers resumed work at the usual hour Tuesday morning.

The state's lawyers took offense Monday night when Judge Helm announced that he would hold court in the mornings until 12:30 o'clock and in the afternoons until 3:30 o'clock. Col. Nelson refused to ask another question of Walling when the hour of adjournment was reached Monday night.

The court said that the examination of the witness must be conclusive before court adjourned. Thereupon the state's lawyers went on a strike. As the state would not proceed, Judge Helm himself finished the examination of the witness, and after a question or two by Col. Washington, court adjourned. Tuesday, when court opened, Judge Helm refused to allow Walling to go on the stand, and an exception was taken by Col. Lockhart. The witnesses examined Tuesday were mostly to the good character of Alonzo Walling and as to the position of the dead girl's body when found.

Following is the balance of Walling's testimony given Monday afternoon:

Witness said he went to the college Wednesday morning and at seven o'clock lunch with Jackson. In the afternoon he went to Fourth and Elm to meet Pearl Bryan. Told her Jackson could not meet her until four o'clock. He met Jackson per request in Wallingford's saloon in the afternoon; was playing cards when Jackson came into the room and ordered two drinks. Jackson and a young woman left the saloon; Walling followed them down to Longworth street; didn't know who the girl was. Walling went to his room on Ninth street and went to bed. Jackson came in late, and I heard him muttering to himself. He said: "You're a beaut. I did not pay any attention to me. He did not seem to be talking to me, and I did not pay any attention to him." On Thursday evening Walling met Jackson in Heider's. He asked the witness to meet Pearl at the post office. He passed by and saw her standing in the corridor, but did not speak to her; then went to the Dennison house. Only saw Pearl Bryan once to speak to her. Went to Pearl's the last week in January. Jackson told the witness of his trouble with the girl Thursday night. He went to the barber shop and stayed with Albion until the shop closed at 9 o'clock; was with him until two o'clock, at different places; went to Heider's to spend the night; went there because he did not want to stay with Jackson; from what he said, was suspicious of him.

Friday morning Walling says he went to the college as usual, but did not see Scott Jackson. After dinner he went back to the college and attended the clinic held there. He had three patients that afternoon, pulling three or four teeth and making one amalgam filling.

After supper Walling went to the dental college to see Mr. Hackleman, who was a student there. I wanted to get into the dissection class, and he was going to help me. They had a subject for dissection at the college that night. Stayed there with Hackleman until 7:30 o'clock, and then went walking until nine o'clock.

After that went to the McNevin house and was with Albion in his room a while. He wrote a letter for Albion and took it to the post office. After he came back they played poker until 12 o'clock.

The witness swore that he had never seen George Jackson before he was taken to the jail; that he did not know Chester Mullen and never hired a vehicle from him; that he had never been in Bellevue, on College street, in Hayden's restaurant.

The witness said that Scott Jackson told him one day in January that he had a girl in trouble at Greencastle. He said he would let her have and poison her or else he would put up her body and dispose of it in manholes. He did not believe he was in earnest. He asked Walling to help him perform a criminal operation. Said he would help him every way he could. Witness did not get a room for Jackson or have anything to do with the case. The next subject was the disposal of Pearl Bryan's clothes. Walling said that on Saturday afternoon he went to the room and Scott Jackson was there. He seemed to have just finished rolling up three bundles which were on the bed.

"Jackson gave me one of them and he took the others. Come on," he said, and I followed him out of the door. That was all he said then. He told me on the street that he wanted me to get rid of the bundles. I did not know then what it was. I know now. It contained Scott Jackson's pants. I put the package in the locker so I could get it again if Jackson ever wanted it."

Witness says he never wore the pants and did not then know about the murder of Pearl Bryan. He first learned Pearl was dead about six o'clock Saturday evening at the supper table. He learned it from the papers. Was not positive at that time that it was Pearl. On cross-examination witness said he went to the depot to meet Pearl out of a friend for Jackson. At that time he intended to perform an operation. Witness became suspicious of Jackson from what he said Thursday evening—that he wanted him to talk to the girl while he went to the room to get some things.

Col. Nelson got the witness to swear that he had roomed and ate for months with Scott Jackson and yet suddenly became suspicious on Thursday.

Witness swore he did not kill Miss Bryan; neither did he know who did. The witness told Deitch, Crim and others that he knew Jackson killed her. He also denied the testimony of Sarah Selther, that he was on the Licking pike before the murder of Dr. Foerster. John Foster, Miss Holmes, who saw him in Bellevue; of Pinard, who saw him on College street; of William Tegeler, who saw him with Pearl Bryan at Elm and Baker alley on the Thursday before the murder; of Watchman Kinney, of the Grand Central depot, who saw Walling and Pearl Bryan in the station on Friday afternoon; of Alvin Johnson and Wallingford that he was in the latter's saloon with Jackson and Pearl Bryan on the night of the murder, and entered a cab with them; of W. C. Martin and Charles Rogers, who said he stopped at Elder's hotel on Saturday morning at three o'clock; of Geo. Jackson, who swears that he drove to Ft. Thomas.
